TO HEAD NEW YORK POLICE

Col. George W. Goethals of Panama Canal Fame Accepts Offer Under Certain Conditions

New York, Jan. 23.—Mayor John Parry Mitchell, is announcing tonight that he had secured from Col. George W. Goethals, a qualified acceptance of an order of the New York police commissionership, made known that he would at once take steps in an effort to meet the conditions laid down by the Panama canal builder.

The mayor said a bill would be introduced in the legislature at Albany at once, giving the commissioner added powers and intimating that he would be willing to meet Goethals' other conditions of a wait until the end of 1914, when the colonel's work on the isthmus shall have been completed before the appointment became effective.

Mayor Mitchell in making his announcement gave out a letter from Colonel Goethals to him brought to this city by George W. Perkins, who at the mayor's request had conferred with Colonel Goethals on the subject in Panama, returning here today with the canal builder's reply.

The mayor had been in conference with Mr. Perkins, Robert Adamson, fire commissioner, and Henry Bruere, city chamberlain, for some time previous, late this evening. The mayor did not make an outright statement that he would hold the commissionership open for a year, but the intimation that he would do so was strong and he promised that he would make a more definite announcement on this phase of the subject later.

Would Retire from Army

Col. Goethals in his letter given out tonight to Mayor Mitchell, said:

"I have given much consideration to your kind offer to appoint me Police Commissioner and have discussed it fully with Mr. Perkins. I can only reiterate what I have stated to you,

PLAINTIFF GETS VERDICT

Harry I. Noyes of Hampton Is Awarded the Sum of $198.18 at Exeter.

In the superior court at Exeter yesterday afternoon the jury brought a verdict of $198.18 for Harry I. Noyes of Hampton, who sued for $500. The action was against Mrs. Emma Knight for alleged work done on repairs and enlarging her house at the corner of Elliot and Front streets. The arguments required the time during the morning, they being made by Judge H. A. Shute for the plaintiff and John Seaman for the defendant. The jury was out about an hour. Judge Robert N. Chamberlain will return Monday morning instead of Judge Oliver W. Branch as was intended during the early part of the week.

BROKEN WHEEL DERAILS CAR

Inward Main Line Blocked a Mile East of Eliot Depot.

A broken wheel on a cake car caused the derailment of the car on an extra freight one mile east of Eliot depot on the Boston & Maine lake Friday afternoon. The inward main line was blocked for two hours or more and trains were run around the wreck on the outward track between Jewett and Eliot. The local relief train with Conductor Frank Moore in charge, was sent over to the disabled freight at 6 o'clock and returned shortly before 11 p. m.

Morning worship held last night at 10 o'clock with preaching by the pastor. Evening service at 8 o'clock. Sunday school in the chapel at the noon hour. An address of special interest will be announced for the men's class. Young People's meeting at ten minutes past six.

SUSTAINED FATAL FALL

Edward E. Tozer Killed by Falling Down Stairs at the Home of His Sister on South Street

Edward E. Tozer, a teamster, was found dead at the home of his sister, Mrs. William McCallin on South street this Saturday morning. Mr. Tozer came to the home last evening to pass the night and this morning his sister went to call him so that he might go to his work. As she approached the stairway she was horrified to see his lifeless body lying on the floor at the foot of the stairs. She called the other members of the household and it was found that life was extinct.

Department Takes Montgomery, Sacramento and Patapsco from Our Home Port List

The latest assignment of ships to navy yards issued by the navy department under date of January 14 shows that we have five less than the last assignment made on April 14, 1913. In the list just received at the yard, the Sacramento, now under construction at the Crane Shipyard, Philadelphia does not appear. The U. S. S. Montgomery, now at Philadelphia in reserve, and the tug Patapsco goes to Norfolk. The Don Juan

COL. PENDER HURT BY FALL

Slipped on icy Rail and Sustains Badly Sprained Ankle.

Ex-Mayor John Pender while crossing Congress street at the intersection of Middle street, on Friday slipped on the rail of the Portsmouth Street Railroad and sustained a bad fall. In falling, his left leg was caught under his body and the ankle badly twisted.

On being assisted to his feet he was found to be suffering severe pain and he was conveyed to his home by Samuel J. Carril, in front of whose place of business the accident occurred. Dr. George B. Pender was summoned and on examination found that while no bones of the ankle had been broken, the ligaments had been badly sprained.

Col. Pender's injury will restrict him to the house for some time to come.

RED FLOWER LOSES RACE

Maud Nelson Nosed Out in Second Heat, Takes the Next Two.

The much-talked-of match race between Maud Nelson, 2:16 3/4, a lavender-hill mare, now in Claude Swasey's stable at Springvale, Me., and Red Flower, 2:17 1/4, owned by Charles B. Tibbetts of this city, for $100 a side, took place at Granite State Park Friday afternoon before a large crowd of horsemen from three states.

Red Flower took the first heat and nosed the mare out in the second, but that heat was given to Maud, it being claimed that she was crowded into soft snow. She took the next two

BOTTLERS AND DRIVERS UNION CONDEMN CLAREMONT'S STAND ON LABOR

The officers of the Bottlers and Drivers Union, No. 229, were installed at their regular meeting on Friday evening, and the work was followed by a smoke talk, at which several good speakers were heard. The special guests were John Nutting, president of the New Hampshire State Federation of Labor, and John J. Coyne, secretary of the State Federation of Labor, and President R. A. Cooney of the Central Labor Union.

The officers were installed by President Cooney and they were as follows:

President—James E. Kelley.
Vice President—Eugene J. Sullivan.
Financial Secretary—Charles E. Davis.

Recording Secretary—George R. Dawson.
Sergeant at Arms—Dennis Kelley.
Examining Committee—Lawrence Kelley.

David Hartnett, Michael Thompson, Central Labor delegates; Dennis Kelley, William Dawson, Lawrence Kelley, Michael Thompson and James Kelley.

Joint Board—Eugene J. Sullivan.
Auditors—Ralph Trueman, Frank Young, Albert Staples.

Trustees—Charles Bruffburg, Frank Young and John Goodrich.

A supper followed the work and an address was made by President Nutting of this State Federation, in which he told of the flourishing condition of that body and also he spoke of the improvement in labor conditions in the state.

Secretary Coyne also spoke and President Cooney for the local central body had a few words to say.

The following resolutions were adopted:

Do the Governor of the State of New Hampshire:

Whereas, The American Federation of Labor of which the Machinists Union is a constituent member is composed of a law abiding and conservative membership and tolerates no anarchistic tendencies therefore be it resolved, That this union solemnly and strenuously protests against the unwarranted infringement of the rights of free speech and free assembly and calls upon you as the chief magistrate of the commonwealth to take such measures as will maintain all of the rights and privileges guaranteed by the constitution of the United States and the State of New Hampshire.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the President of the United States and the Representative and Senators from New Hampshire with a request that they use their influence with Governor Belknap that he may so control the Claremont situation that every man may enjoy all the rights guaranteed to him by the organic law of the land.

Swift Scooters Lined Up For a Championship Race

START OF SCOOTER RACE

Scooters are rivaling the big ice yachts in many sections and in some sections outnumber the larger craft owing to the low price at which they can be built. This photo taken on Great South Bay, N. Y., near Patchogue shows a fleet of the little ice and water speed demons lined up for the start of a race for the championship of New York State.

The demands of various kinds and various speeds, it thus automatically prevents the injuries which are possible by too much advance or too much retard.

WHOLESALE LARCENY OF AUTOMOBILES

New York, Jan. 23.—Fifteen detectives disguised as mechanics started out in three automobiles early today, expecting to round up members of a band of automobile thieves, suspected of operating here and in other cities, and with stealing machines valued at $100,000 in New York alone.

Two prisoners were taken. They described themselves as John W. Sheerwood, an adjuster for the Philadelphia Insurance Co., with offices here, and Charles Study, a chauffeur. Both were held on charges of grand larceny.

A stolen automobile, recovered by the police of Baltimore gave the police here clues upon which they have been working in the hope of checking inter-state traffic in stolen cars.

SILK STOCKINGS

There is no doubt about silk stockings being the chosen luxury of the well-dressed woman. The wise shopper, however, selects a good quality of silk stockings, for she knows well that a cheap grade cannot wear any grades of silk stockings there are many which are not really silk at all, fustian silk, spun silk, and even wool fibre for instance, being sold under the stamp of pure silk. One can distinguish stockings of wool fibre by a hard feeling in the stockings as if they had been knitted from a tightly twisted yarn.

Vegetable silk is made from wood fibre or some raw cotton. Artificial or vegetable silk burns like cotton—that is, with practically no ash—white silk resembles the wood fibre, boiling up or bubbling, forming a lumpy sort and giving forth the odor of burned hair. By pulling a few threads from the top of a stocking, one can determine whether she is receiving the silk she is paying for or a cheap substitute.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING AS NEWS

Nobody who keeps in touch with the changing standards of our national life can have failed to note what a large part advertising has taken in the development of civilization. Just the news columns of the metropolitan journals have noted every advance of invention, every phase of improvement and a thousand details of life, ranging from the breakfast food a pal to the clothes we wear, as the advertising columns have set forth with more detail the social changes that a higher standard of living has brought.

No broad definition of news could exclude the advertising which daily fills so large a part of the papers. To a good many mothers busy with the cares of a family and absorbed with the need of getting bargains, which to all their little "tummies" and to clothe their little bodies, there is no news in the paper except that of the advertising columns. The best news, that which chronicles a step forward in our progress as a nation, is

1914 CADILLAC HAS AUTOMATIC SPARK ADVANCE

At the present stage in the development of the motor car more or less attention is being repaid to refinement that make the driving of a car simpler and safer. The 1914 Cadillac has several improvements that illustrate this point. One is its automatic spark advance. Without this device the driver must manipulate his spark lever according to his own best judgment of the engine's requirements. It is not alone a question of speed. Sometimes heavy going puts a drag on the engine that necessitates manipulation of the spark lever. With the novice this is guess-work from the driver and makes the action positive, automatic, according to the engine's needs. This is accomplished by a ring governor which automatically advances the spark and retards the spark according to

THE PINE TREE STATE

An Appreciation and a Few Valuable Suggestions

In a return of the total valuation of the cities, towns and plantations of Maine, just made by the state board of assessors, the governor and council, there appears an interesting basis of comparison, not only with its own record of a year ago, but with its immediate neighbors of this section. The showing is quite a satisfactory one. It indicates a healthy growth and a definite increase in property of over 12 millions. This is not based on a revaluation of old possessions, but on an addition of new ones. An analysis shows some significant changes in the character of such property. For instance, there is a gain of nearly a million in the value of stock, and this in spite of the fact that sheep have decreased to the extent of nearly 13,000, and cows about 3,000, though there has been a decided gain in the number of cattle. This may mean that the recent movement, already referred to towards raising cattle for beef has already some practical progress. Like the other states of this section Maine appears to be heading towards the extinction of the ship raising industry, which is unfortunate, especially as the state has supposed opportunities making it profitable.

One of the wealthiest and populous sections of the country is New England and virtually half its area is included in the state of Maine. But the present inventory of its possessions suggests the state in which it is still undeveloped. Its total valuation is a trifle over $430,000,000. Of course such figures must be accepted with caution because the basis of assessment varies so much between states that it fails to afford ground for a just comparison. Upon the face of the figures the valuation of the whole state is only a little more than a quarter the city of Boston. The total valuation of her 24 cities which has advanced nearly $6,000,000 during the past twelve months is $113,302,770, or considerably less than twice that of the town of Brookline.

The report studied by one unfamiliar with the history and progress of Maine, would hardly convey to his mind the idea that it was one of the older states or one of the older settlements. A part of it refers to improvements given the board by the legislature with respect to the exploration of wild lands during the year 1913 and 14. Exploration seems like a somewhat enterprising enterprise to set on foot in one of our New England states, but evidently there is a reason for it. Two members of the board with the secretary, spent sixteen days traveling by canoe and on foot on Northeast Carry on Moosehead Lake to Fort Kent on the St. John River, ascending in this time Adirondack and Priestly mountains, whereby the use of glasses a very large area of country could be observed. In this manner much first hand knowledge of a general character was secured, to be used in conjunction with the more specific work done by the explorers who spent practically the whole season in this territory.

This seems like the exploration of new and primitive territory and in a sense that is what it is. The boundaries are known, but the character of much of the country included, is still an untold story. Maine is one of the most beautiful states in the Union, with a splendid citizenship and when

If you can keep your seat when all about you

Are laughing and stepping onto you

If you can let a dance go on without you

At a make allowance for the stars

Of the sea

If you can't leave your daily avocations

Each afternoon at three for cabaret or never even try the "hesitation"

And "time-slides" do not permeate your days

If you can read and skip the trope motion

If you are calm when Chamber's novel ends

If you emit energies from your direction

In talks about white slaves with lady friends

If you prefer a general completeness

In every style of clothes the women get

If you adore the fluffy kind of sweetness

And care not for the slit and minaret

If you enjoy a play in which the hero is neither slightly "damaged" nor warped, nor soiled

Nor spends the evening exultation Nero

In course of which the heroine is spoiled

If you are partial to a covered chorus

And like a modern light-fancied step

Although a trousseau more abridged, and porpoise

Might live up the show, and give it "pop"

If you still cling to prehistoric virtues

And let old native worry over sex

If you're afraid that modern thought can hurt you

Or that the combinations to complex

If far above from all you keep your altitude

And of the crowd you are the only one

Yours is a sad and lone existence

And what is more—you'll be old-fashioned, son!

SUCCESS ON A SMALL FARM

What One Woman Did.
Kate St. Maur.

Can a family make a comfortable living on a small farm? Yes, most emphatically yes, if they possess ordinary common sense and industry. My own personal experience is an undeniable demonstration of that fact. I started on a rented place with really no capital, as a business disaster had swallowed up all our savings, so that I knew what it is to commence at the very bottom of the ladder.

The place we found was an old fashioned homestead. There were two large barns, corncrib, toolhouse and several old sheds. It was really a farm of 150 acres, but the owner let us have the house and twelve acres including the orchard, for $15 a month, on a three years' lease, with the privilege of taking over the additional 138 acres at any time during our tenancy for an additional $5 a month, with the option of purchase.

Stock Bought From Savings
Stock had to be bought in small lots as I saved money from our living expenses at first. So I bought a few old hens—broody ladies that wanted to set—and raised forty-eight chickens, the first summer. The old hens had cost $10; extra eggs for setting, $5; feed, $4. And on the credit side there were ninety chickens sold as broilers, which brought $22. Fifty-eight young pullets kept for stock and all the eggs we wanted for our own table. From a trio of ducks bought early in the spring I sold sixteen young ones when nine weeks old for $7.92. In November of the same year thirty more were sold and twelve retained for stock. I can't give the exact cost of feeding because no separate account was kept, but certainly $20 would cover it. The old birds cost $4.50 so the profit on the investment amounted to nearly $30.

The apple orchard was in a very badly neglected condition, but still we realized $150 from sales in the fall, and our vegetable garden had supplied our own needs and furnished a beautiful supply for pickling, preserving and canning for winter. Having a balance on the right side of the ledger, we built a new chicken house and bought a cow. The place was entirely self supporting by the chicken, milk, and from that time on stock grew so rapidly that it seemed advisable to take on the rest of the land and raise all our own feed for the stock.

The great secret in starting on a small place is, I think, to commence with poultry, garden and berry fruits and gradually increase stock and crop raising operations, as success and market, to say nothing of your own experience, makes growth feasible.

DEVELOPING THE DAIRY CALF

Raising the Future Milker.
E. K. Parkinson.

The development of a dairy calf should begin in the sire and dam back several generations. To illustrate, if there is land enough to keep a cow and money being distinctly an object, it is decided to buy a heifer calf and raise it. With this end in view the milkman or butcher is interviewed, and, being an obliging chap, he finds a pretty little heifer, drops $10 into his pocket and the prospective milker is installed. For two years the beast is fed, petted and watched over, and at last the eventful day arrives when with new milk pail in hand, the family gather in the barn to watch the milking—the result, about eight quarts daily. At first that sounds very well, but with a moment's thought the Massachusetts Agricultural College has found the keep of a cow (feed, in insurance taxes, depreciation, etc.) costs $144.01 per year, so let us do some figuring: Eight quarts for 300 days (the cow being dry two months yearly) gives 2,400 quarts, which if sold at 6 cents per quart, would return $144, a loss of $2.01—not quite what we had reckoned on, is it?

How to Feed.

Therefore a future dairy cow should come from a line of good milkers—at least, on the sire's side—and will cost as a calf about $25, but the money is well expended, and the calf once purchased the importance of spending thought as well as feed in its development should not be forgotten, especially during the first six months.

Feed new milk the first two or three weeks, four to six quarts daily divided into three feeds, then gradually substitute skim milk and continue so to feed until six months old. Skim milk and well cured hay, alfalfa or clover fed three times daily should make the bulky part of the ration. Silage may take the place of one feed or, hay when three months old and may be fed twice daily after six months. In addition to furnish nutriment and stimulate growth. Feed little at first, about a half a pound a day in a clean wooden box, and gradually increase until two pounds are given. A good mixture consists of cornmeal, ground oats and wheat bran in equal parts and a half part of timothy meal. Feed the spring calf in the barn the first summer and when a year old turn her into a good pasture, where no other food will be required. Fall calves should not be obliged to depend entirely on pasture until eighteen months old. Keep the heifer growing, feed her well, but do not fatten her.

POULTRY FARMING A DIVERSIFIED INDUSTRY

H. R. Lewis,

N. J. Agricultural Experiment Station
No branch of our present agricultural development offers greater latitude in diversity of effort than poultry husbandry. It is made up of so many different branches and has so many different sources of income that the beginner may select the line which will best fit his particular conditions. Before selecting or developing any branch of work a careful study of market conditions and features of location and transportation must be made. There is a constant demand for strictly fresh table eggs and for high class market poultry. The problem, then, is to choose a line of production and by improved methods produce high quality, and no anxiety need be felt over distribution.

The most profitable and easily managed branch of poultry production is market eggs, the aim being to so hatch, rear and manage birds that a maximum of eggs are produced during winter, when prices are high. The requisites are strong, vigorous pullets hatched during April and reared on free range and given in winter plenty of good food and a congenial environment. The latter necessitates plenty of room, an abundance of sunlight and fresh air, together with entire freedom from moisture. Eggs commanding highest prices are infertile—that is, males should be kept from the pens except during breeding season.

the production of market poultry, such as broilers, roasters, capons and fowls. Broilers may be produced as a side line or as specialized business, preferably the former. The surplus males which occur in the hatching and rearing of pullets may be marketed young as broilers or kept until fall and sold as roasting chickens. With the lighter breeds the former method usually brings the best returns, while in the case of the American and Asiatic breeds it will often be much more profitable to hold them for roasting. The advantages of capon production are larger and heavier birds at killing time, a sweeter and finer flavored meat and a much higher selling value together with a lower cost of production.

The day old chick business offers exceptional opportunities to the man with a small piece of land, and custom hatching is one of the modern developments of the past decade. Possibilities in raising of breeding stock and in production of hatching eggs are limitless. Success depends upon quality and ability to advertise.

APPLES AND PEACHES; WHERE AND HOW TO GROW THEM.

Necessary Locations and Soils
A. A. Guiley

College of Agriculture Storrs, Conn.
Northeastern states offer innumerable satisfactory locations for the growing of apples and peaches, and the former in most of the varieties will make a congenial home in almost any spot in which one might choose to live, except in the very mountainous districts.

In picking out land for fruit growing bear in mind that apples, pears and peaches are bulky; therefore nearness to transportation facilities is most important. On the other hand, where capital is limited, land farther from market, costs less and, as far as the fruit is concerned, may be just as desirable. Wherever chosen the land should have a fair elevation, not on top of a high hill exposed to strong winds, nor yet in the bottom of a narrow valley, but gently sloping hillside are ideal, and the direction is of slight importance. The choice will often be between rough or rocky fields, costing but little or those much easier to cultivate and so more expensive at the start. The latter are, as a rule, cheaper to handle as time goes on, but success may be had from either. Whichever spot is chosen it should be naturally or easily drained for water must never stand near the surface in an orchard.

The apple allows a wide latitude in the matter of soil, and some varieties will grow on almost any land, strong enough to grow trees. For the varieties generally grown gravel or clay gravel soils are very satisfactory but lighter lands are also successful, when supplied with humus. The particular nature of the soil is less important than location and drainage, and many so called run out farms can readily be fitted for fruit growing.

Peach Trees Are Particular.

The needs of the peach are quite different from the apple, and to start an orchard in a locality where the mercury drops more than 5 degrees below zero is very risky; also unless located near a large body of water that tempers the cold. Only elevated positions are safe even in favorable localities. Good air drainage must be had, hence the tops of hills or the most elevated parts of gently sloping hillsides should be chosen. Then, too, the peach buds must be protected from sudden changes of temperature. Choice of soils is also restricted as success can only be assured where there is a natural drainage and a warm, sandy soil so congenial to the peach.

USING MUCH GLASS

More than a thousand tons of glass will be used in the construction of the buildings at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, 550 tons having already been contracted for to be used on eight of the main exhibit palaces. In the machinery palace alone there are 28,000 panes of glass in the facade now installed and 65,000 square feet of glass in the skylights. When it is considered that 1000 tons of glass in panes of the average thickness would cover an automobile road eight feet wide from San Francisco to Los Angeles, a distance of 500 miles, and leave quite a bit over, some idea of the immensity of these figures may be gained.

The Natural Month
For Sales.

January is known in merchandising as the natural month for "sales."

It is the month of business house-cleaning and planning for the new season. Most stores "take stock" and balance their books in January. They are naturally anxious to clean out small lots and turn their wares into cash.

So they make prices accordingly.

Those who like to profit by sales need no urging to read the newspaper advertising these days. They scan every line and they shop knowingly.

It is interesting to watch the way the stores go after business with each turn of the season. Our American merchants are setting an example of progress to all the world.

They know how to make advertising pay you and pay them.

TANGO DEAD WITH SOCIETY LEADERS

New York, Jan. 23.—The tango, a dead, as far as the New York "400" is concerned. It was buried last night at Mrs. Stuyvesant's ball.

The brilliant hostess, following the stand taken by the heads of the Roman Catholic Church against some of the modern dances, herself declared "I won't have any tangoing done in my house. When everybody's doing a thing in moderns and dance halls it is time to stop it."

So the tango is dead! It died as vagaries die, of their own excesses. And like other things, this monarch of the modern dances, which Mrs. Vernon Vastie said in a recent interview, is "the most beautiful of dances when done right," has been quickly succeeded.

The insurgents against previous regimes, Mrs. Fish did not fly one ruler until another was provided. Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Vastie devoted his successor and Mrs. Fish has given it the name.

At 10:15 last evening at Mrs. Fish's ball the "Innovation" was crowned as the next dance favorite. At exactly that time the Castles took the center of the floor. They stood a foot at least apart, facing each other, and began a slow, stately movement, half glide, half waltz.

"They never touch each other," cried Anne Grundy.

"To keep his hands off his pockets and she hers on her hips," replied Mr. Grundy. It was true. Not once did their bodies graze each other.

The dance was as majestic as the minut, as graceful as the waltz. In slow time, as beautiful as youth, as joyous as first love.

The birth of the new dance marks a new epoch in dancing. Society is tired of the tango. It had already revolted at the turkey trot.

"They were transient, vulgarities. They have had their day and it has been too long," said a woman whose word is law in matters of taste.

The Castles have tired of it. They conclude their music hall engagements this week and with that conclusion they forever draw the veil upon the tango.

Ultra refinement in dancing is the legacy of the new regime. Dances will be slower more moderate, more graceful—in a word, more elegant. The joy of living that has dominated the favorites of the period will be subservient to the sense of beauty and the recognition of propriety.

WINTER HOUSE PLANTS.
The most satisfactory house plants are the numerous varieties of Boston ferns. The ferns which are the hardest to cultivate in cultivation, are best affected by the dust and dry atmosphere of the house than any others and the Chinese rock-plant which is a most graceful plant, may be recommended. For the dark corners, such as the hallway, nothing will do so well as the Boston fern.

Stick to the Savings Bank.

In an address before the Maine League of Loan and Building associations a few days ago President Hyde of Bowdoin college gave his hearers some advice that is well worth passing along to others, and which may profitably be acted upon by people of small or moderate means from one end of the country to the other. This was to invest their money in the savings banks or building and loan associations, where it will be positively safe, and to let stocks and other speculative securities alone.

There are many people in the country today who have been made painfully aware by personal experience of the correctness of President Hyde's view of this matter, people who if they had placed their money in the savings banks instead of investing it in stocks in the hope of larger returns would have had it now, with increase according to the time it had lain on deposit. There are persons in practically every community who have had that bitter experience, and yet the foolish practice of seeking investments that will yield large returns goes on while the savings banks with their modest rates of interest, but absolute security, are passed by, in many instances to the loss and sorrow of those who take this course.

In these days of "big business" people even of limited means are led to despise small things and to look upon the savings bank with its modest interest rate as old-fashioned and small. They aspire to bigger things and make investments which they foolishly imagine will make them rich, but which in far too many instances rob them of the little they had.

This is a matter of common knowledge, yet the risky practice goes on in spite of such warning as is voiced by President Hyde and the bitter experiences that have come under the observation of almost every one, if not directly home. The savings bank is one of the best friends of the man of small income or limited means. It is safe and sure, and compound interest, though the rate be small, runs up faster than most people imagine who have not had the experience of drawing or paying compound interest.

The Boston Globe is thankful for the fact that the recent cold weather has given New England such a large supply of ice that people feel perfectly justified in using some of it for skating. It is to be hoped that the price next summer will admit the poorer class to make use of it for domestic purposes.

Even the offer of aid in their earthquake and other troubles does not entirely reconcile the Japanese to the alien land situation in California, and they still insist that the United States shall do something about it. It will be a relief to two nations if that little thorn in the flesh is ever effectually disposed of.

Colonel Goethals says a large ocean steamer could now pass through the Panama canal, yet the great waterway will not be opened to traffic for some time yet. But they certainly have made the dirt fly in a way to open the eyes not only of this country, but of the civilized world.

This is indeed a fast age. Two Maine men under sentences of imprisonment have applied for pardon before being committed. If this sort of thing were to be seriously considered by the authorities it might be well to have pardon precede trial and thus save expense.

Canada has its attractions in spite of its long, hard winters. Of more than 388,000 emigrants that left Great Britain last year, the United States received less than half as many as went to the Dominion. But possibly a little "steering" was done by Great Britain.

One Japanese voter has been found in the United States and steps are to be taken at once to denaturalize him. And since he took out his papers one of his sons has reached his majority and also claims the right to vote. Carry the news to Hobson.

The Boston and Maine railroad troubles are far reaching. The projected improvements on the summit of Mt. Washington are to be postponed until conditions are more reassuring.

The Boston Globe says: "As the pessimist looks at it, every day that passes now, brings us nearer to another winter." Evidently he has thoughts of his coal bill.

Another aviation record has been made. Charles K. Hamilton of New York, who had been in the business for several years, died in bed from natural causes.

It is now easy to perceive that the days are lengthening.

VIOLATIONS IN MILK SHIPMENTS

Department of Agriculture Warns Offenders Against Repetition.

The new department of agriculture issued its first circular of information regarding farming interests on Friday.

It states that there are already some violations of the law as enacted and that unless the offenders comply with the provisions their case will be taken up by the department of justice.

In order that the law may have the widest publicity, a copy of it has been forwarded to all the subordinate and Panama granges in the state and to secretary of the Granite State Dairy-men's Association. A list of the names of those who have been granted licenses are included also.

The statement follows: "The attention of the department of agriculture has been called to some violations of the law enacted by the last session of the legislature relating to the purchase of milk, cream and butter within the state for shipment and sale without the state. We believe this law will prove to be of mutual value and protection to both the honest buyer and producer of our dairy products, and for the protection of such we are sending a list of all persons or companies to whom licenses have been issued and who are doing business strictly in accordance with the provisions of the law as follows:

David Whiting & Sons, 570 Rockford avenue, Boston, Mass.; Roy K. Donison, East Andover; Hiram C. Bruce, Milford; J. R. Whipple, Hotel Touraine, Boston, Mass.; Harry W. Litchfield, 11 Melville street, Somerville, Mass.; Woodbury & Hager, 12 South street, Somerville, Mass.; Acton Farms Milk Company, foot of Windsor street, Somerville, Mass.; Robert M. Burnett, 9 Bosworth street, Boston, Mass.; Rockingham Milk Co., Hancock square, Charlestown, Mass.; Francis S. Cummings, 251 Elm street, West Somerville, Mass.; Portland Creamery Company, 349 Park avenue, Portland, Me.; Lyndonville Creamery Association, Lyndonville, Vt.; H. P. Hood & Sons, 494 Rutherford avenue, Somerville, Mass.; John A. Hamilton, 120 Auburn street, Cambridge, Mass.; Allen Brothers, Company, 1171 Tremont street, Boston, Mass.; Frank E. Boyd, 20 Oak street, Everett, Mass.; Charles H. Comstock, Westminster, Vt.; Harvey W. Forbes, 6 Warren street, Melrose Highlands, Mass.

Fail to Furnish Bonds

There are a few other persons or companies who have filed with the department applications for licenses under this act who have not as yet given bonds as required. We have no doubt that these parties are honest and do not mean to evade the law, but through misunderstanding, possibly, have failed to comply with its provisions. Pressure is being forced upon them, and such as persist in delay, action will surely be taken by the department of justice.

If there are any farmers selling dairy products to any parties to whom the provisions of this law apply whose names do not appear in the list above and who desire any information regarding such persons or companies, it will be cheerfully furnished by this department. We would especially urge all farmers producing dairy products for shipment and sale beyond the state, to familiarize themselves with this new law, Chapter 220, Session Laws, 1913, and thus become fortified with the knowledge necessary to protect themselves in their business.

In order that the widest publicity of the statement may be given, we are forwarding a copy, with a copy of the law enclosed, to every subordinate and Panama Grange in the state, at the same time furnishing a liberal supply to the secretary of the Granite State Dairy-men's Association.

It is the hope of the commissioner that the new Department of Agriculture, as now organized may prove to be a fruitful source of information and help to the farmers of New Hampshire and with the co-operation of the press, which has always been friendly to the farmers, and of those in whose interests the department is especially established, we feel sure our hopes will be realized. We shall make an honest endeavor to merit your support and end entertain no fear that such support will be withheld.

LIND MAY NAME NEW PRESIDENT

Washington Convinced Conferences Have Bearing on Huerta's Successor.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Conviction in administration circles that the Huerta regime in Mexico is rapidly approaching the collapse which has been persistently predicted, has led to much discussion here of the nature of John Lind's frequent conferences with Mexican leaders.

Belief is expressed that President Wilson's representatives in surveying the situation with a view to determining how events will shape themselves when the Huerta structure falls.

Mr. Lind's latest conferences with Josue Flores Magon and other Mexican statesmen have interested members of the diplomatic corps who pointed out tonight that in view of President Wilson's reiterated statements that he would not recognize Huerta nor any of the things he stands for, the American envoy might very naturally be induced to throw out hints as to what type of man would meet with approval at the White House.

They thought Mexicans would in all probability embrace an opportunity to sound Mr. Lind informally as to the acceptability of various leaders who might arise when the crisis is reached.

So far as officials here are advised, the vicissitudes which preceded the Madero revolt and followed the downfall of the leader's stormy incumbency of the presidency have not detracted from the high standing which Francisco de la Barra, at present minister to France, attained as the man of the hour when General Diaz was forced to abdicate. Senor de la Barra then was brought forward as the leader who as provisional president, could placate all factions pending a new election.

'Diplomats Favor Barra

Some of the diplomats here believe de la Barra could again compose the situation in Mexico so as to permit the choice of a successor to Huerta. They regard him as the man under whose leadership all factions would be most likely to shelve their activities from the battlefield to the ballot box.

Some uneasiness was occasioned at the war department today by the appearance of smallpox among the federal soldiers and refugees near El Paso, Texas, and instructions went forward to General Bliss to proceed at once with the vaccination of the several thousand soldiers, as well as the women and children who crossed over into Texas after the fall of Ojinaga.

The general condition of financial affairs in Mexico was summarized in this statement from the state department today.

"Americans are finding the forced loans levied upon them a great burden."

The phone oil district in San Luis Potosi, is reported to be fully controlled by the Mexican federal government, so that all has been furnished by the railroad with very little interruption.

Secretary Daniels today sent this message to Rear Admiral W. C. Cawley commanding the American squadron in Mexican Pacific waters: "Upon the occasion of your detachment from the present duties and your orders to the command of the important station in Asiatic waters, the department wishes to assure you of its appreciation of your able and discreet management of affairs on the west coast of Mexico."

"In cases where a man whose services have not been satisfactory can be reinstated by a court of review, the effect on discipline and efficiency is most injurious. ## CURRENT OPINION

Five School Hours More Tiresome Than Eight Hours of a Working Day.

I think most men will agree with me that five hours a day in school for a boy or a girl is equal to eight or nine hours of work for an adult. And I would like to know how easy it would be to find grown men and women willing to work eight or nine hours a day if they were forbidden to stand up when tired of sitting down, if they were forbidden to speak to each other, if they were not even permitted to move around a little to rest themselves by change of position.

Furthermore, particularly in large cities, one principal cause of breakdown on the part of high school and elementary students is insufficient nutrition and bad hygienic conditions in the school. I regard it as essential that public schools furnish a substantial luncheon to pupils at bare cost.

At the risk of incurring criticism I am willing to say that the teaching force in most of our elementary and high schools today is made up of teachers wholly unfitted for their important work. What our boys and girls need is teachers of personality, full of sympathy for those in their care and possessing the faculty of interesting pupils in their work.

All over the country we have the buildings, the laboratories, the equipment, the books, but we lack teachers of the right kind. As far as possible the work done in elementary and high schools should deal with the actual problems of the pupils' daily life and be largely constructive in character, with increased attention to manual and vocational training.—Professor George W. Kirchwey of Columbia University.

FUNERAL OF REAL D. A. R.

Mrs. Sophronia Yorke Now Sleeps Beside Her Father, Who Fought Under Washington.

One of the few real daughters of the American Revolution, Mrs. Sophronia W. Yorke, aged 94 years, was buried at Newmarket Friday afternoon, the funeral services being conducted by Rev. Eugene D. Doolittle, pastor of the Free Will Baptist church of that town. Mrs. Yorke was the daughter of David Watson of Newmarket, who served in the war of the Revolution, and took part in the siege of Yorktown.

He was a soldier in the eighth company, Colonel Reid's regiment, enlisted in 1780, and at the battle of Yorktown was in Capt. Joseph Fogg's company. He was given supplies by the town of Newmarket for his services in the Revolution.

When Lord Cornwallis surrendered, and the war closed, Mr. Watson walked to his home in Newmarket, arriving after many hard days on the road. He lived the remainder of his life there. His daughter was born May 27, 1820, and has lived in Newmarket all of her life.

During her declining years the D. A. R. chapters of the state have contributed to her support, she being a member of the Granite chapter of Newfields. She made her home with Mrs. Ada Knight, where she died on Wednesday evening. The bearers were George W. Robinson, Cyrus R. Rand, William A. Tasker and Andrew J. Watterson. Members of the Granite chapter and the Exeter chapters of the D. A. R. were present.

LAI'D AT REST.

Funeral of Edward Ginn, the Late Guardian of Miss Farmer.

The funeral of Edward Ginn, the late guardian of Miss Sarah J. Farmer of this city and who was held from his home in Winchester on Friday afternoon.

The services were of a simple character. The Rev. Samuel M. Crothers, D. D., minister of the First Puritan church, Cambridge, where Mr. Ginn attended, officiated. After scriptural reading and prayers he spoke of the life of the deceased. There was no music.

The pall bearers were D. A. Plympton, of New York, Lewis Pankhurst and Charles H. Thibault of Boston, Richard S. Thomas of New York, Henry M. Hilton of Chicago and P. W. Gilson of Winchester, many of whom are partners in Mr. Ginn's publishing house. The interment was at Woodlawn cemetery.

The World Peace Foundation was represented by the board of trustees. Among those present were Edwin D. Mead, the director of the work and his office staff, the Hon. Samuel W. McCull, Professor Charles H. Levermore, Professor Samuel T. Runkin of New York, the Hon. Albert E. Pillsbury, Dr. George G. Nysmith, Albert G. Bryant and George W. Anderson, one of the trustees of the Charles Bank Homes, which was one of Mr. Ginn's benefactions.

WARWICK CLUB TO ENTERTAIN

The first of a series of parties for the members and ladies of the Warwick club will be held on Thursday evening, Jan. 29. The committee in charge are Dr. F. Towle, Frank E. Jaavitt and Charles H. Walker.

ASKS THAT BILL BE AMENDED

For Safety of Public—Affects Telegraphers and Signal Men.

In the interest of railroad telegraphers and signal men, Congressman Stevens of the Second New Hampshire district has introduced into the house of representatives an amendment to a bill to promote the safety of employees and travelers upon railroads by limiting the hours of service of employees to remain on duty for a longer period than 16 hours after which no hours of duty must be allowed. A signalman or telegrapher working 16 hours in 24 will be entitled to eight consecutive hours of duty.

In another proviso an eight hour shift for operations is provided for. Cases of emergency will be exempt and a penalty of not less than $100 or more than $500 is ordered for violations.

It will be the duty of the Interstate Commerce Commission to report to the proper district attorneys in formation of any transgressions that come to its notice. There will be a hearing on the amendment Monday, at which H. B. Perham, president of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers will appear.

RAILROAD NOTES

The block signal system on the Portland division of the Boston and Maine was working badly this forenoon causing some delay to the train service between this city and Elliot.

A special train from Rochester and Dover with nearly 100 of the Masonic fraternity came to this city over the Dover branch on Friday night.

The Southern division of the Boston & Maine will run several extra freights between Manchester and this city on Sunday for the transportation of coal.

The New Haven railroad executive committee will not hold any meetings this week. It has been the usual custom to hold weekly meetings on Fridays. Chairman Howard Elliott who has been in New York for three days will return to Boston tonight.

The Boston & Maine will extend reduced rates tickets of thousands of patrons who have been forced to use trolley cars because of unsatisfactory train service.

Laurence Minot has tendered his resignation as a director of the New Haven and of any subsidiary companies in which he is a director which includes the Harlem River and Port Chester Railroad Co., the Hoosac Falls Railroad Company and the New England Steamship Company.

Action on his resignation will be taken at the next meeting of the various boards.

KITTERY

The Riverside Reading Club observed guest night on Friday evening and entertained their friends at the Community House, Kittery Point.

bonifant company of seventy people sat down to a delicious banquet, prepared and served by the members of the club. After the dinner had been satisfied with the feast of good things, Mr. George L'Amoureux, as toastmaster, introduced the speakers, Mrs. Charles Duncan, the president of the club, responded to the toast "Our Club" with the following original poem:

"Our existence began up on the hill, Where lived an old couple (they live there still). We were only a handful three years ago.

Have you watched since then and seen us grow?"

"Only a few of his 40th and kin Who to keep Sir's birthday had 'just dropped in'; We've increased from eight to twenty-nine—

For so quick a growth don't you think that's fine?"

"Stand of a few of the Duncan kin. Since that day in October we've gathered in—

Members from many parts of the town And begin to think we're of some renown.

"For we've joined the Maine Federation Made of Women's Clubs, you know; We expect to influence the nation, When 'votes for women' is 'a go.'"

The other toasts were: "The Maine Federation," Mrs. George L'Amoureux; "The Community House," Mr. James Walker; "The Ministry," Mr. I. James Merry; "The President of the Club," Mr. Elmer Burnham.

Later in the evening the company was further entertained by the following program: Piano solo, Mrs. James Merry; illustrated reading, "The Courtin'" by Mrs. Charles Duncan, with tableaux by Mrs. Charles Latta, Mrs. Hattie Wentworth and Mr. Merry; vocal duet, Miss Isabelle Gouglas, Mr. Gouglas; piano solo, Mrs. Henkle; farce, "Wagner at the Smallville Woman's Club," by club members; reading, Mrs. Charles Duncan.

The presentation of the short play was under the direction of Miss Lillian Walker, whose efficient coaching was shown by the effective manner in which the parts were taken. The play was bright, amusing and was greeted with shouts of laughter and applause.

The cast of characters was:

Mrs. Van Ness, the President, Miss Scribber, the Secretary, Mrs. Gouglas, Mrs. Williams, Miss Von Culture, the Wagnerian lecturer, Miss Walker, Miss Mann, an Equal Suffragist, Mrs. George Tréthen, Mrs. Purkins, Miss Safford, Mrs. Nuttall, Mrs. Charles Woods, Mrs. Lee, Mrs. Elmer Burnham, Mrs. Owen, Mrs. Goss, Miss Prim, Mrs. Cochran, Mrs. Ordery, Mrs. Ira Keen.

The entire evening was characterized by a spirit of gentility and hospitality which made those who were fortunate enough to be the guests of the club congratulate themselves upon the honor and hope that the talented president and other members of the club may have many such opportunities to enlighten and broaden the social life of the town.

Services at the Second Christian church tomorrow will be as follows: Preaching at 10.30, subject: "Why Perseverest Thou Me?" Sunday school at 11.45; Christian Endeavor meeting at 7; preaching at 7, subject: "The Pastor and His Adjutant." All welcome.

A teachers' convention will be held in Kittery on Monday, Feb. 10. The afternoon session will be held at Trade Academy and the evening session at the Second Christian church. State Supt. of Schools Payson Smith will be present and deliver an address, and other well known speakers will also be heard.

The Phone Society will have a supper on Monday evening, Feb. 10, at which time they will enter to the visiting teachers as well as the general public.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Drest Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teaspoon full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

SAILORS GIVE FRIENDS A FAREWELL PARTY

Crew of the U. S. S. Des Moines Entertain With a Dance at Freeman's Hall.

The crew of the U. S. S. Des Moines gave a farewell dancing party to their friends here at Freeman's Hall on Friday evening and it was a party which will keep the memory of the crew fresh in the minds of their friends while they are in Mexican waters.

It was an informal affair and arranged in short order, so that the elaborate decorations of the hall, so prominent in sailor's quarters, were missing.

There was, however, a large crowd of young people present, and they made the most of the dancing. Mademoiselle's orchestra of eight pieces furnished inspiring music for the dancing.

At 10:30 refreshments of beer, cake, fruit punch etc., were served and dancing was enjoyed until two o'clock.

The officers of the dance were: Chairman, W. G. McDonald, Committee, R. L. Kane, Gunders, Mate, first class, W. E. Kennan, Yeoman, third class, A. E. Vanderwall, Cox-

THESE ARE RADICAL ENOUGH

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 23.—Some radical resolutions remained today for the consideration of the United Mine Workers of America, which began consideration of the report of the committee on resolutions Wednesday afternoon. It was hoped to complete the report late today.

Several resolutions directed against the militia and the boy scout movement, have been introduced, but the committee has not announced its action yet.

One of these resolutions reads: "Be it resolved that this organization go on record as opposed to any of its members joining the militia and that the organization oppose the law sent movement as harmful to the best interests of the working people."

One resolution proposes that there be a general strike of miners in case an international war is engaged in by the United States.

The scale committee has before it a resolution demanding that the organization take a stand for a six-hour working day on the contention that the mining industry is overcrowded, and in this way it is hoped to obtain work for all.

IF CONSTIPATED OR BILIOUS "CASCARETS"

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—They Work While You Sleep

Get a ten cent box now.

Take a Cascaret tonight to cleanse your liver, stomach and bowels, and you will surely feel great by morning. You men and women who have headache, coated tongue, can't sleep are bilious, nervous, upset, bothered with a sick gassy disordered stomach, or have backache and feel all worn out. Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil?

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels.

Remember, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. A ten-cent box from your druggist means healthy bowels, a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Don't forget the children.

NAVY TO HAVE OIL SUPPLY FROM GOVERNMENT LANDS

Secretary Daniels Favors Government Ownership--To Withdraw Land From Public Entry.

Washington, Jan. 23.—As the result of an investigation disclosing the advantages of oil-equipped battleships, Secretary Daniels and Lane Chairman Padgett of the House Naval Affairs Committee and others have been conferring over a project for Government lands for furnishing the navy with its own fuel.

Rear Admiral Griffin, chief of the Bureau of Steam Engineering, has filed with the House Naval Committee a statement outlining the project, with recommendations. McAnulty, a hearing will be given at the Interior Department next Saturday night on a bill of Senator Gore proposing a pipeline from Oklahoma to the Gulf of Mexico for the use of the navy.

Details of the plan became known today. Because of the increased cost of oil, which naval officials say has gone up 60 per cent in the past year, "with the navy multiplying the consumption and the oil companies multiplying the price, plans are under way for making the navy independent of oil companies by reserving land or acquiring them and by developing the Government's own oil resources."

Government Owned Oil Lands
Besides oil lands in Oklahoma officials here have considered Government lands in California, though it is suggested that these might involve title litigation. Admiral Griffin suggested the Oage lands in Oklahoma, adding that there is also undeveloped oil in Alaska.

The statement of Admiral Griffin is based on an investigation by Lieut. Commander Boyd of the Steam Engineering Bureau. It says that if the Government should produce its own oil, it could save the large pipe line transportation profit by building its own pipe lines. The saving computed with present conditions would be from $1,000,000 upward annually.

A $500,000 appropriation to lease a quarter section of highly probable land is recommended "as a beginning the remainder to use for drilling and acquiring additional land. The Government, it recommends, should have the same selling rights as any company beginning operations."

The Navy in the last fiscal year used 400,000 barrels of oil, and all new destroyers, submarines and battleships are planned to use oil only. For the next fiscal year the navy wants 700,000 barrels, with subsequent steady increases.

Great Increase in Price Foreseen
"Under war conditions" the statement says, "there might be periods when we would be using at the rate of five or six times that quantity. We are paying $1.39 a barrel for oil at Port Arthur, and the best information obtainable points to a further increase in price.

"The time is not yet ripe for any recommendations for producing in California," the statement continues. "The titles of land in the navy petroleum reserves are not clear, and the outcome of the suits for the recovery of lands therein from the Southern Pacific cannot be foreseen. Moreover the status of lands will be influenced by the future decision in the mid-west Oil Company case, which will determine the status of claims at the date of the order of withdrawal from entry of these lands."

BANKERS TO MEET IN MANCHESTER

Manchester, Jan. 23.—The midwinter meeting of the New Hampshire Bankers' association, which will be held in this city, on Tuesday next, promises to be the most successful event in the history of the organization. Already the demand for seats at the banquet is unprecedented, and the committee having the matter in charge have been literally swamped with applications. The first problem that is confronting them is how to care for the large number that have signified their intention of coming.

The great attraction at this gathering is Howard Elliott, president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, who will be the principal speaker at the banquet, which will be held at the Joliet clubhouse at 6 o'clock.

In the afternoon at 4, the exercises open with an informal discussion of the new currency bill, when its interesting features will be pointed out by Charles P. Blinn, Jr., a prominent banker of Boston, and president of the Massachusetts Bankers' association. Mr. Blinn was one of the big bankers that appeared in Washington at the hearings when the bill was under preparation, and is an expert on the subject. After he analyses the measure, there will be a general discussion of the various features of the bill in which many of the visiting as well as the local bankers, are expected to take part.

The local entertainment committee having the affair in charge consists of Col. William Parker Shaw, Walter M. Parker, Arthur H. Hale and Harry L. Addison, who are the able assistants of the president of the association, Arthur M. Heard, under whose personal direction all of the details of this coming successful affair are being carefully worked out.

COMFORTING WORDS
Many a Portsmouth Household Will Find Them So

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed, to be entirely free from annoying dangerous, urinary disorders, is enough to make and kidney sufferer grateful. The following advice of one who has suffered will prove comforting words to hundreds of Portsmouth readers.

Mrs. John M. Smart, 122 Gates St., Portsmouth, N. H., says: "Eight or nine years ago I began to suffer from pains in the small of my back which at times changed to a dull grinding ache and if I overexerted my suffering was intensified. I felt tired nearly all the time and had but little energy. Having reason to believe that my kidneys were disordered, I began trying various remedies but without success, until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Philbrick's Pharmacy. The contents of two boxes improved my condition in every way."

For sale by all dealers. Price 60 cents. Foster-Milburn, Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name, Doan's and take no other.

Mately 250,000.

LABOR ORGANIZER IS ARRESTED IN CLAREMONT

Claremont, Jan. 23.—The town hall of Claremont, which is used for all sorts of public gatherings, entertainments, and dances, has been closed against John Luthinter the New Jersey labor leader, by the selectmen.

Together with officials of the New Hampshire Federation of Labor, Mr. Luthinter the New Jersey labor leader, Luthinter appeared before the selectmen yesterday and asked to rent the hall. When denied this request he announced to the chief of police that he would hold an open air meeting outside of the Sullivan Machinery company's sales today regardless of arrest threats.

The labor federation has engaged prominent attorneys to attend the open air meeting and defend Luthinter when the expected arrest is made. President Men J. Nuding accompanied the labor organizer and sought to engage a hall. None could be secured.

The fight between the business men of the town and Organizer Luthinter has divided sentiment among the citizens. Some insist that Luthinter should have the right to be heard in a public meeting and others insist that the New Jersey man's presence in town will eventually foment a strike of the thousands of employees of the Sullivan factory.

Local organizations from every section of the country have begun sending offers of assistance to Mr. Luthinter. Boston labor circles are said to have become interested and intend to send Frank Jennings, an international officer of the machinists' union to Claremont.

This noon Luthinter attempted to address a gathering of men and he was placed under arrest. The selectmen of labor at once provided for his bail and defense.

ARMOUR CAR LINE OFFICIALS FACE JAIL

Chicago, Jan. 23.—Frederick W. Ellis, vice president of the Armour Car Line, faces possible imprisonment because of his refusal to answer questions regarding his company's business, asked by members of the Interstate Commerce Commission, which is investigating the relations of railroads with private car lines and shippers.

George P. Boyle, attorney for the commission, announced he will begin contempt proceedings against Ellis and against all other officials of the company who refuse to give desired information.

On the advice of attorneys for the company, Mr. Ellis refused to disclose details relative to his financial relations with Armour & Co. and its income from car rentals, on the ground that the commission has no jurisdiction over the Armour Car Line, as the company is not engaged in interstate commerce.

Should the courts hold that the commission has no jurisdiction over the affairs of the company, Mr. Boyle announced that he will begin prosecution of every official of the company who has accepted passes from railroads.

BRYAN'S STAGE FRIGHT.

More than a crump of comfort for aspiring orators of tender years is this submission from "Grape Juice Bill," the man who made Chautauquus famous, that even yet he gets stage fright when about to deliver an address. For this natural phenomenon we are at a loss to account. Whether grape juice is not sufficient inspiration, or whether he just naturally trembles at the thought of taking money for what is to come we do not know. Perhaps he needs more of the sterner beverages that emboldened Daniel Webster to defend the Greek revolutionists or fight over again the battle of Bunker Hill with a tremor. Grape juice is mighty slim excuse for some of the dizzy heights attained by our golden-tongued statesmen. But even at an early age, it is reported, "Dollar Bill" could make 'em all take notice by his mellifluous tones. Even then it mattered not much what he said. And it doesn't now. The voracious Washington chronicler tells how, as a child, he would recite geographical data in a manner that gave promise of his future. And the neighbors thought it a rare treat to hear him say

BRYAN HAS NO FEAR OF JAPS

Washington, Jan. 23.—Although Secretary Bryan knew in advance the substance of the address of Baron Kato, Japanese minister of foreign affairs, reviewing the California anti-alien and legislation, negotiations, it was said today that the secretary did not know of that portion of the minister's address which dealt with Japan's relations with other powers and the Mexican situation.

Officials said it had not been expected that this government would be consulted as to those features and the fact that it had not been advised was without significance. Officials also declined to attack any significance to the portion of the baron's address touching on the Mexican situation. It was said the United States had been fully informed of the steps Japan was taking to protect her nationals there.

A NEW CAKE FLAVOR

To vary the flavor of cakes, especially plain ones, place a rose geranium leaf or two on top of the batter paper in the cake tin. It is particularly good in the following recipe for a miniature pound cake. Cream three-eighths of a cup of butter with one-half cup of sugar and two unbeaten eggs, and a pinch of salt and one slightly rounded teaspoonful of baking powder in one cup of flour. Bake forty minutes in a moderate oven. This quantity makes a very small tin.

Premier Scenic Temple Programme

For Friday and Saturday

The Red Powder—Agony

A strong dramatic subject in three parts. The story deals with a chemist who works out a formula for a new high explosive. With the exception of one ingredient, the formula is stolen by a fellow workman. The inventor is killed by a premature explosion and the man who stole his formula floats a large company on the existing supply of the red powder. The manner in which his treachery is discovered makes this a most interesting feature.

Mutual Weekly of Current Events

Gives you all the latest and most interesting happenings of the world at a glance.

The Champion

An exceptionally clever burlesque comedy by the Keystone company. A scream from start to finish.

The Buried Past—Broncho

A two reel feature photo drama of exceptional character study, strong dramatic motives, rich in adventure and incidents.

Miss Margaret Pearson Sings: "The Little Church Around the Corner" and "In the Valley of the Moon."

Matinees 2.30. Evening 7.00. Saturday Evening 6.30.

Special Attraction for Monday and Tuesday—Daniel, Freshman presents "The Port of Doom" with Laura Sawyer and her characterization of Kate Kirby. A marine detective drama in four reels.

dock today in preparation to being placed in dry dock. The tug Mitchell Davis and Piscataqua assisted the yard tug Penacook in the work of moving the big vessel.

Vessel Movements

The Eagle has arrived at Guantanamo. The Nashville at Cape Haytien. The Stewart at San Diego. The DI at Key West. The Denver has sailed from Santa Barbara for San Diego. The Truxton from Mare Island for San Diego.

The GI was placed in commission at the navy yard Philadelphia, January 23.

The U. S. S. Tacoma left Norfolk for Portsmouth at 9 o'clock this morning.

It Looks Queer

From the outside it appears that the U. S. S. Montgomery was a steal from this port. The fact that she is not yet going out of commission, and has been assigned to Norfolk looks just a little queer.

A Few More Wanted

Two more boilermakers and a few boilermaker's helpers are still needed in the machinery division.

Promoted to Corporal

Private Scully of the barracks marine guard, attached to the commandant's office as orderly, has been advanced to corporal.

More Dinghies to Build

The latest work ordered in the hull division is the construction of four 20 foot dinghies.

Goes To Headquarters

Gunnery Sergeant James Lippert of the naval police has been detached and ordered to duty in the marine corps headquarters at Washington.

ENTERTAINS HER YOUNG FRIENDS

Miss Tilton Celebrates Her 15th Birthday on Thursday.

The P. A. P. Club, members of the Sunday school class of Miss Hattie Oxford of the Methodist church and a few friends were the guests of Miss Gertrude H. Tilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bertram M. Tilton, at her home, 294 Lincoln avenue, on Thursday evening, the occasion being the fifteenth anniversary of her birth. The young people heartily enjoyed music, games and dancing. The rooms of the home were decorated with the club colors, green and gold. The table of the dining room was festooned and streamers attached to corners and caught in the center to the chandelier. Refreshments of sandwiches, fancy wafers, olives, peanut butter, assorted cake, confectionery, fruit and ice cream were served.
